

HOW TO ACCESS THE ASCP JOURNALS USING YOUR MEMBERSHIP

ASCP members are able to use direct referral links from their membership dashboard to have access to ASCP journal content. In order to use this member benefit, please follow the below steps.

1. Navigate to the ASCP homepage and log in using the button on the top right of the homepage.

2. After logging in, visit your member dashboard. You can find your dashboard by navigating to the homepage and clicking on the “DASHBOARD” button on the top right.

3. On your dashboard, scroll down to “ASCP Activities” and, under “Journals”, click on either “AJCP” or “Lab Medicine” to be referred directly to the journal site with access to content.

For those users who have Laboratory Medicine or the American Journal of Clinical Pathology already bookmarked and navigate to the journal page directly:

1. Click on the profile icon in the top right of the screen. You will see an option to “Sign in through the society site”.

2. Click the “Sign in through society site” button. This will take you to the ASCP login page.

3. Log in with your ASCP member credentials. You will then be redirected back to the journal page and will have content available to you.